

Join award winning landscape and wildlife photographer Andrew Scriven on his Introduction to Photography Course, run in partnership with the Royal Photographic Society here at Dr Challoner's GS.

Andrew will be covering the basics of photography with advice on how to take a well-composed and well-lit image. Students will be encouraged to take pictures and share them with the class. They will look at post processing as a tool for enhancement.

The course will then delve a little deeper to consider the power of a single picture, the stories we are communicating through our imagery and whether we possibly take and share too many pictures. Throughout, Andrew will be encouraging the students to approach their photography in a mindful way, with an emphasis on awareness and enjoyment.

Classes run every Thursday (except 28 September and 5 October)

Number of sessions: 8

Times: 4pm - 5pm
