

Introduction to Making Composite Images:

This course is aimed at intermediate photographers who have a good understanding of lighting (see lighting for composites course) and are comfortable using Photoshop.

In this workshop photographers will learn the key elements to creating realistic composite images and how to shoot images to create a "library" that can be used for future composite images.

Photographers will photograph a model and create a composite image on the day.

What to Bring:

Photographers should bring with them a camera, whatever lenses they feel comfortable shooting with, a laptop computer with Photoshop and a graphics tablet.

Please bring a packed lunch as there are no local facilities – although there is a pub which is a 10 minute drive away.
