

“We experimented with constant lighting and flashlight and I opted most of the time for constant lighting. The two boys presented themselves in their favourite sports outfits and I also managed to get a portrait of their father, a relative of Richard. They all spoke perfect Swiss German which made it easier for me to interact with the boys. At four in the afternoon we were all quite exhausted and we finished the session with a good feeling having obtained some good shots.”

Urs Albrecht LRPS

