

MD

MD

The empty spaces, lit by sodium lights, illuminate the haunted. Even the city has its stranger self, the vagrant playgrounds and unadopted alleys. Here, on the perimeter you could wait for hours and never see a soul, but you can hear the owl calling, here in the owl-light, in the owl-haunted dusk of the abandoned night.