

Gigi Has More Success Out in the Garden

Rob Morgan ARPS

Readers of the RPS Journal will have noted in the March/April edition that our member Gigi Williams ASIS FRPS has had great success again this year in the annual International Garden Photographer of the Year (IGPOTY) competition. Congratulations Gigi !

Gigi writes:

I was thrilled to be recognised in the latest International Garden Photographer of the Year competition with seven awards including a second place and two finalists! You may remember that Robin was the overall winner last year out of 20,000 entries, so I'm in good company!!

The RPS Journal article showed one of her images, as well as many other outstanding images. There was also a feature in the London Times, that featured three of Gigi's images and images by other Australian photographers. The link is:

<https://www.thetimes.co.uk/article/international-garden-photographer-of-the-year-c29dwh7qm>

Here are more of Gigi's images.

Second Place, Wildflower Meadows category.
Church of the Good Shepherd, Lake Tekapo, New Zealand

Image by Gigi Williams FRPS

Commended, Breathing Spaces category.

Commended, Trees, Woods and Forests category.
Deadvlei, Sossusvlei, Namibia [This garden possibly needs more water – Ed.]

Images by Gigi Williams FRPS

Above left:
Finalist, Trees, Woods and Forests category

Above right:
Commended, Wildflower
Meadows category

Left:
Finalist, Breathing Spaces
category

Images by Gigi Williams FRPS